L. P. COMSTOCK HELPS PROMOTE He Must Wait Average They Had Been on No Oil Wells

Columbus has become known in some of operations in this 1932. They took the old lease back by again-out lease.

L. P. Comstock of El Paso, Texas, who went back to California and is a brother of E. M. Comstock, who worked as a telegraph operator in California for a number of years, has been negotiating with a California party for some time with the view of getting them to develop the oil resources in the Columbus valley, and he has committed arrangements for them to do so provided he can get laws on different areas to justify them in drilling.

After they became interested Comstock got a relative, who is a prominent lawyer of Oklahoma, to free up the lease in such a way as to fully protect the interests of the land owners, and then had them examined by two of the best lawyers of El Paso, who pronounced them good lease and favorable to the land owners.

One of Mr. Comstock's main points was to send them up to actually put down on wells in order to hold the lease, saying that he did not care to have his land held back indefinitely by receiving a small amount of rent yearly, but that he wanted all wells or nothing, and that they would have to drill on wells as far as the lease, and the people he is negotiating with agreed to this and accepted the lease in this way, and the lease is finally that they will have to drill wells

An overall club was organized at the Columbus Club last night by about twenty citizens who are desirous of reducing the high cost of living. Members who bought clothing are to feel the effects of the movement first, from the clothes in the clothing stores, from the land lord, the grocery and so on down the line until it reaches the adult and child labor used in making clothes, to the clothing of the manufacturer.

Following were the officers appointed: C. D. Hampton, President; E. Engstrom, Chairman; A. Fredericks, Treasurer.

A committee was appointed to obtain prices on overalls from the different merchants in town, as follows: Ross M. Johnson, W. K. Curry, J. L. Norwood.

Following is the agreement signed by the members: "We the undersigned, agree to wear for a period of three months, starting May 1, 1932, ending August 1, 1932, with the privilege of extension in time, the following described clothing: Old clothes, overalls, army clothes, all shoes, old shirts and old hats. And that we agree to stand a fine of not more than $1 each time we are caught without the above described clothing on.

The above described will be worn six days a week, from Monday to Saturday, inclusive. And that we further agree not to buy any new clothing of any kind, except in a "city, for the same length of time."
